Mr. Evan Tucker Has a Bill to Sub-

Cheaper and Better Light.

The statement in The Morning Times yesterday that the Commissioners are about ready to take up the question of a reduction in the price of gas, brought President Evan Tucker, of the Northeast Citizens' Association, to see Major Powell. He was very active in the agitation last its plant, according to its own estimate, by $4.550,000.

Mr. Tucker at that time attempted, with a letter of introduction and a request from Senator Faulkner, to see the company's books and determine exactly what profits the company had paid, but the privilege was denied him.

Major Poweli, in the investigation by the House committee, asked that a candle-power test be substituted for the requirement that the city lights burn six feet an boar. The reason was that it is very difficult to determine when a burner is consuming a given amount of gas per second. Another change asked by him was that the appropriation be made in a lump sum for lighting the city, instead of being specifically divided, part for gas and part for electric lights. His reason was that this would put the two companies, each now having a monopoly in its own field, into competition with each other.

Major Powell said unequivocally he thought the city ought to buy and use all the electric conduits now in its streets.

DELAYED UNTIL SUMMER

It is not probable that a garbage crematory will be erected in the northwestern part of the city. An appeal to Congress is relied upon to prevent it.

The protest against the crection of the Smith garbage crematory on Twenty-fourth street, near M, is bringing out new assertions regarding the character of that grematory, and will almost certainly defly the crection of the plant until summer. While Contractor Warfield claims to be losing heavily by being obliged to haul garbage from all sections to the foot of South Capitol street—his loss is estimated at $1.000 a month—he does not seem anxious to crect the Smith crematory. He has not turned a wheel in that direction yet. The reason given is that Twenty-fourth street, between N and Rock Creek, must be graded before work can begin.

SHOULD BE WATCHED CLOSELY.

SHOULD BE WATCHED CLOSELY. SHOULD BE WATCHED CLOSELY.

It has been suggested that the committee of twenty appointed Wednesday night should name a subcommittee of three to visit Philadeiphia and Atlantic City and see how the Smith system is working there. It is claimed that in Atlantic City the crematory is broken down and in Philadeiphia it is working imperfectly. Commissioners Powell and Truesdell visited the Philadeiphia works and found nothing offensive, nothing to create a misance.

But some clitzens believe that an inspection of the works lasting through twenty-four hours will show that when the ashes and refuse are removed about 2 a. m. there is a very offensive smell and the garbage is found to be not completely consumed.

The itrown plant at the foot of South

the garbage is found to be not completely consumed.

The Brown plant at the foot of South Capitol will be completed about January 15 and put in operation. The point will probably be made Monday that, as the contractors are not pashing for the Smith crematory, its construction be delayed till the operation of the Brown system can have been observed. If that is found satisfactory the Smith system may be abandoned as experimental and the Brown substituted for it. It has been supposed the contract for the Smith crematory had been completed, but it is yet possible for the Commissioners to recede from it and substitute the Brown.

BEGWN PLANTS CAPACITY

BROWN PLANT'S CAPACITY. BROWN PLANT'S CAPACITY.

In any case the delay can probably be secured in order that the Brown plant may be tried. It is capable of disposing of all garbage till next July. In the meantime the signers of the petition will have an opportunity to be heartibefore Congress and Secure immunity from the location of any crematory in the northwestern section of the city.

The Slack will case appeared yesterday in the Commissioners correspondence in a reply to the Senate resolution inquiring about the law governing a father's control of his children by will. They answer by letter to Senator Harris that they have an opinion from Attorney Thomas. This is that chapter XXVII of the statutes in force in the District, page 252, contains among other laws on "Guardian and Ward," the statute of Charles II, ch. 24, sec. 8, talex. Brit. statute 496-467; which provides that the father of any minor unmarried child, may by will dispose of its custody during minority.

POOLROOM LICENSE LAW.

Commissioners' Aftorney Thomas has been requested to prepare a draft of a bill giving the Commissioners power to refuse a license to a poolroom. The present law, under Judge Kimtalf's interpretation, imposes a penalty for keeping a poolroom, without paying a license, but Judge Kim, ball holds that the tender to pay is a constructive payment. The taw is to impose a penalty for keeping a poolroom without having a license.

SCHOOLS AND HOLIDAYS.

Commissioners Are Undecided About Monday and Tresday.

The question whether school will keep Monday and Tuesday next interests the Commissioners on account of the expense. The cost of fuel will be from $100 to $200 a day, according to the weather. As the children can harding but thristmas hopes during the two days preceding the festival, it was considered almost useless to call them together.

"When will you appoint new school trustees," was asked of Commissioner Ross.

"Not till we get some additional legislation, enlarging the number. The District is growing.

"How many probably?"

"About fifteen."

"Any more women?"

"Yes, indeed; certainly."

"Those new trustees have proved satisfactory?"

"Quite so. They are active, intelli-gent, capable."

Mr. Ross made out checks for teachers yesterday, and they will be paid today. Other District employes will be paid Mon-day. The question of holidays for District employes will be considered at today's placed before the Commissioners. It provides for good gas at $1 per thousand, and will probably embody most of Major Poweil's views in regard to cheap gas when it is sent to the Capitol.

The failure of the effort last year to secure the passage of a bill fixing the price of gas at $1 was brought about in the Senate bistrict Committee. The gas company officials stated positively that they could not make gas for as little money as $1 per thousand feet and Senator Faulkner and others replied to every argument in favor of the passage of the bill by asking for proof that the statements of the officials were incorrect.

The facts presented to show that they were wrong consisted mainly of two classes—first, that gas is made at Philadelphia. Alexandria, and Richmond and sold at a profit for 37 cents, 75 cents and $1; second, that the Washington Gas Company has distributed dividends at an average of more than 10 per cent a year, and at the same time increased the value of its plant, according to its own estimate, by $4.550,000?

Mr. Tucker at that time attempted, with a long of introduction and a request from Second Case in Street Extension Proceedings Before Justice Cox.

Consideration of street extension case No. 433, involving the property in Ingleside subdivision, was resumed in District court resterday, Justice Cox presiding.

Testimony was adduced by the government counsel to show the present values of lots in the subdivision, and also as to the extent of the depreciation or enhancement, if any, of property remaining after the required portion is taken for streets, and also to determine what, if any, effect the abandonment of streets will have upon lots deprived of frontage.

Mr. Joseph B. Wimer and others were called to give estimates of the market values. Mr. Wimer's figures ranged from 10 cents to $1 per foot, the majority of his quotations being between 30 cents and 60 cents per foot.

The witness could give no opinion of the effect that would be produced upon certain property by the abandonment of Ingleside Terrace as a public thoroughfare, but said if it were to be maintained as a private way property would be more valuable than if the street were altogether abandoned.

The proceedings will be resumed this econd Case in Street Extension Pro doned.

The proceedings will be resumed this morning. Attorneys Thomas and Duvall represent the government, and Messrs. Chapin Brown, Nathaniel Wilson, and A. H. O'Connor appear for the respondents.

American University Building Committee Fixes the Site.

Other Plans Discussed and the Architect Decided Upon at a Meeting of the Board.

The building committee of the American inversity held a lengthy meeting yesterday afternoon at the Lenman building. New afternoon at the Lenman building. New York avenue northwest.

Those present were Bishop Hurst, Rev. Dr. Samuel J. Beiler, Messrs. M. G. Emery. John B. Herrell, Andrew B. Duvall and Trustee Dr. Bouy of Philadelphia. The meeting was for the purpose of making a selection of the location of the hall of history, the first of the University buildings to erected. Mr. Olimstead, the landscape architect of Boston, and Architect Poindexter of this city, were present to aid the committee in the selection.

After much discussion it was finally decided to locate the hall of history as suggested in the plans aubmitted by Mr. Olimstead sometime ago. This will place the hall a little to the right of the administration building, near and fronting Nebraska avenue.

In addition to selecting the location for the hall a little to the right of the administration building, near and fronting Nebraska avenue.

In addition to selecting the location for the hall of history the committee, in a measure, also selected the general plans for all the buildings. The plans chosen were those submitted by Messrs. Van Brunt and Howe of Kansas City and New York, and Mr. Poindexter of this city. Mr. Van Brunt will be asked by the committee to come to this city for consultation with Mr. Poindexter, when it is expected that the final plans will be completed. The plans submitted by Messrs. Van Brunt and Howe are of classic Greek style.

The question of the material to be used in the construction and the height of the buildings were also decided on. The building will be two and one-half stories high. The first, or half story, will be constructed of granite, and the two upper stories of marble. The cost of the hall of history is estimated at about $150,000.

Although no decision could be reached by the trustees in reference to the "cluster" arrangements of either Olimstead or Flagg. It is expected that since the location of one of the group has been agreed on that there will be no difficulty or delay in the selection of the sites for the other buildings.

The bill of complaint alleges that Lucy Lee Brice attained her majority October 5, 1895, previous to which, on October 6, 1894, she was married to Edward C. Brice. The death of her father is cited, and the fact, also, that under his will she was bequeathed the sum sued for, through a policy of insurance in the order of Kaightis of Pythias. The policy was directed to be held in trust for her until she should become of age. Upon reaching her twenty-first birthday application was made to the guardian for payment of the legacy, but that and subsequent efforts to secure an amicable settlement failed.

The complainant alleges that the guardian has not made a correct accounting, having charged against the legacy certain amounts unjustly, whereby the total of
